

MINERS' EARNINGS SHOWN TO RANGE AS HIGH AS $14 PER DAY

Do Not Avail Themselves of Opportunity to Make Full Time.

EFFECTS OF 14% ADVANCE

Will Necessitate Upward Adjustment of Price of Coal in Order to Give Producers a Reasonable Compensation; Price Situation is Serious.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Impartial authentic data taken direct from the records of typically representative mines of the various districts of the central competitive field, showing at first hand the names of the miners on the payroll, their actual earnings, the number of days they worked each month and deductions for supplies, was offered Tuesday, to the commission of three appointed by the President to inquire into the bituminous coal situation.

The operators' figures as offered are new. They cover the ten months period from January to October, 1919, running up to the beginning of the strike, embracing essential facts concerning wages, days worked and other matters which make up the laborer's cost of operating the mining industry. The data, assembled by C. E. Lester, who as an expert of the United States Geological Survey was in charge of mineral fuel statistics, show that the miners during the period covered, which is the one under immediate investigation, averaged far more than the $5 per day which the miners said was the basic wage for the mine worker before the 14 per cent advance was granted.

The operators' figures show that the miner, according to his disposition to work, was able to earn anywhere from $5.50 a day for lay laborers to over $14.00 a day for the machine miner. The operators' data shows that the miners did not avail themselves of their opportunity to work during all the days the mines were operated during the ten months period.

The detailed reports of the number of men who worked each day and their average earnings show that the steady men not only made more money than the irregular workers but that the average daily earnings of the steady miners were greater than the return per day of the miners who laid off frequently.

An important point affecting the operators was stressed by Mr. Lester when he called the attention of the commission to the extent to which the 14 per cent wage increase that was applied in December has already affected the mining industry. The 1919 figures submitted, he said, show that the advance cannot be absorbed by the operators.

"Contracts are rapidly expiring, many of which are keeping many parties alive," said Mr. Lester. "The price situation is a serious question at the moment and is becoming daily more serious."

Supporting Mr. Lester's statement, Attorney John P. Muller of Washington gave the commission results of an investigation into the financial sheets of representative mining companies for the first ten months of 1919.

"Should the commission decide to permit the 14 per cent increase to stand," said Mr. Muller, "it will be necessary for the commission to make the same time an upward adjustment of the price of coal at the mouth of the mine in order to assure a reasonable compensation for the capital invested in the industry."

As a typical illustration of the effect of the 14 per cent advance, Mr. Muller cited the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' association, saying:

"On a basis of six per cent the loss of coal operators on 1919 tonnage at 1920 labor pay rates would be $6,773, 116.54 for the Pittsburgh Coal association, which on a tonnage of 22,177,728 would be approximately 30 cents per ton."

In explaining the impartial character of the data from the mine records for 1919, Mr. Muller said:

"All the data on the pay roll of the mine designated are here. There is no selection of men within a mine. Every man that is on the pay roll in a month is on these records. The names were selected to get 15 per cent of the total men in the field by selecting approximately 15 per cent of the mines, medium, large and small."

The data submitted covers both the thick-vein and the thin-vein districts of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, District No. 3, Southern Ohio, Indiana and Illinois all embraced by the central competitive field.

Following Mr. Lester's statement of the representative character of the mining records, Attorney Lester read into the record a number of the tables which show a striking variation from the claims hitherto advanced by the miners as to their total monthly earnings. They also show, Mr. Lester pointed out, the great extent to which the irregularity of the miners detracts from their potential earning power.

One table submitted shows the number of the pick miners working in a given Pittsburgh thick-vein district for the month of January, 1919, the days each man worked and his average earnings. In this table it is shown that pick miners working the entire 27 days in which the mine was operated.

REFUSED TO MAKE RETURN INFORMATION IS FILED AGAINST MOUNT PLEASANT MAN AS RESULT

Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue Phil C. Moore yesterday filed suit in United States District court in Pittsburgh against John Ballon of Mount Pleasant, charging him with refusing to pay income tax or make return.

Ballon not only refused to pay tax on his earnings for 1919, said federal officials, but went among his friends and boasted of his success in evading the income tax act. When United States District Attorney E. Lowry Humes presented a petition asking that a bench warrant be issued for the arrest of Ballon, the court directed that the defendant be allowed one hour having persuaded him to marry his wife, George's wife was formerly Miss Powell of Connellsville.

CHANGES AMONG B. & O. OFFICIALS ARE REPORTED

Supt. T. J. Brady of Local Division May Be Slated For Higher Post.

Following announcement of the resignation of M. H. Cahill as general superintendent of the eastern district of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to become general manager of the Seaboard Air Line there were various rumors today of official changes affecting the Connellsville division.

One was that J. F. Keegan, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania district, would succeed Mr. Cahill and that Superintendent T. J. Brady of the Connellsville division would take Mr. Keegan's place. Another was that General Superintendent Searcy of the Cleveland district would be Mr. Cahill's successor, and that A. P. Peck, assistant to Mr. Keegan, would take Mr. Searcy's place.

No confirmation was obtainable at Connellsville division office, where it was said these were only rumors. Mr. Brady was out of the city.

Another change, effective today, is the assignment of Delbert Hurley as general yardmaster of the yard here. He succeeds H. R. Humphries who has resigned. Mr. Hurley had been general yardmaster here until six months ago when he was ordered to Uniontown, being returned very recently as yardmaster.

Mr. Hurley is well posted on conditions in the Connellsville yards. He entered the service of the company 27 years ago and for the past 15 has been a yardmaster. He being first assigned as general yardmaster five years ago when that position was created.

Car Distributor John E. Wallace will go off at once on a business trip, necessitated by a break down in his health. The duties of car distributor are extremely heavy in the times of car shortages and Mr. Wallace has a reputation for a fair and impartial judgment in assigning the coal cars, and also of getting into service every available one.

WILSON'S ERROR CAPITAL ONE, SAYS LONDON PAPER

The Telegraph Also Censures Against Over-confidence in Treaty Matter.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Some newspapers here give prominence to dispatches from America which declare that Viscount Grey's recent statement as to the American attitude on the League of Nations has effected a radical change regarding the treaty on both sides of the United States Senate.

There is little comment, but the Telegraph, while "sincerely hoping the Senate is about to take action in a form which will allow renewed co-operation by the United States in the great task laid upon the civilized world," warns its readers to beware of over-confidence. It says high hopes of compromise and a happy ending have been "raised more than once and come to nothing."

The paper holds President Wilson responsible to a great extent for the delay in ratification of the treaty. "His political mistakes," it says, "have been grave. It is undeniable he believed himself deceived by the opinion of Europe and was acting and speaking on the assumption that the American people were solidly behind him in the peace conference and his insistence upon the inclusion of the league covenant in the text of the treaty. It was a capital error."

GRADE CROSSING CASES

To Be Decided Shortly By the Public Service Commission.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—Decisions in a number of Western Pennsylvania grade crossing cases will be made by the Public Service Commission shortly, arguments having been heard after studies were completed by engineers. It is likely several in southwestern counties will be ordered abolished.

Owing to the attitude of Federal authorities in regard to expenditures for such operations, the commission withheld action in a number of cases during the last year, but with return of the railroads to corporate control it is probable a policy in regard to abolition of crossings will be announced so the railroads can provide for such works.

The inhabitants were forced to precede the Germans as a protection against a Russian counter-attack, finally being concentrated at Minsk, 600 miles from their old home.

After the war they returned to the home, which had survived the German drive, but Mr. Oppenheim was so broken in health that he died a few weeks after reaching the old home. Mr. Oppenheim is survived by his wife, a daughter and three sons, including Samuel of this city.

ALLIES IN CONFERENCE

Action Taken in Face of Defiance of Demand for War Criminals Is Not Made Public; Another Meeting Set for Tonight; Statement Coming Then

By Associated Press.

REIMAN, Feb. 4.—Baron von Lersner, head of the German Mission in Paris has been relieved of that office. Von Lersner, it is explained, had received explicit orders to transmit the demands to his government. Paris advised von Lersner as declaring he had resigned rather than transmit the list of Germans demanded by the Allies.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The Allied conference of ambassadors was called into extraordinary session today to discuss the situation created by the resignation of Baron von Lersner, head of the German mission here. High officials of the American embassy, who attended the meeting, said afterward that he had no statement to make regarding it.

It was made known that an official communique would be issued at the second meeting of the council which was set for 6:30 this evening.

Meanwhile an official view of the situation arising from Baron von Lersner's refusal to transmit the list of the accused Germans to his government is lacking. The general impression among the observers of the press proceedings was that the action of the German representative would not influence the determination of the Allies to demand the extraditions.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—Paul Dutasta, secretary of the peace conference, last evening handed to Baron von Lersner, head of the German delegation, the list of persons whose extradition is demanded from Germany.

The list is headed by former Crown Prince Frederick William and several other sons of the former German emperor.

Included in the list are: Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg former German imperial chancellor; Field Marshal von Hindenburg; General Erich Ludendorff, formerly chief of staff of the German army; Field Marshal von Mackensen; Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria; The Duke of Wurtemberg.

A number of other princes and titled officers are also to be tried. The total number of names in the list is about 800, and it is divided into eight sections. The first section is a common list of all the accused. Then follow seven other lists, giving the names, rank and accusations of persons whose names were supplied by Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Poland.

ated for that period made $244.43, or over $9.50 per day, and that others working fewer days averaged from $7.50 to $9.00 per day.
Another table showed even greater averages for Pittsburgh (nick-nom) miners, figures giving their wages being taken from the payrolls of October, 1919, when the industry was spending up just before the strike.
After Acting President John L. Lewis and Secretary William Green of the United Mine Workers had argued once more for a 60 per cent wage advance, with the six-hour day and five-day week, representatives of the coal operators in reply insisted that the existing wage is adequate and that the miners' demands are unreasonable and unjustified.

To demonstrate the prosperous money conditions of communities made up largely of miners, Tracy L. Guthrie of Pittsburgh gave the commission reports from savings banks and other financial institutions in twenty-eight mining towns selected at random in Western Pennsylvania showing that savings deposits had increased $12,000,000 in the last four years. The report embraced 46 banks which had been in operation since 1914 and seven banks established since.

Demands of the operators touching basic points in the controversy were spread upon the commission's records during the day. Among these is a demand for the abolition of the check-off system, under which the operators, by an arrangement with the miners, collect dues for the Mine Workers' Union from the miners' pay. This "check-off" which produces $15,000,000 for the United Mine Workers organization was null into effect upon the insistence of the union officials that, through it, they would be able to enforce contracts.

The other demands of the operators were: Fixing by the commission of an equitable method for adjusting house rent charges to miners; enactment of legislation making associations of employers, legally responsible for fulfillment of contracts; that national officers of the mine workers be required to assume responsibility for enforcement of terms of contracts in the various districts; installation of time clocks at mines; provision for the introduction of devices or machinery serving to reduce cost of production.

ROBERT MARIETTA.
The body of Robert Marietta, who died in the United States General hospital, near Denver, Col., will be brought to Conneltsville for interment, with funeral director J. L. Sims in charge. The deceased was born in Conneltsville November 21, 1890, a son of J. Marcus Marietta of this city. After receiving an education in the city schools, he entered the Boys' Porter & Company shops to learn the machinist trade, being employed there for more than two years. Later he secured employment with the Baltimore & Ohio road as a machinist's helper, remaining with the company until he entered the service. April 8, 1918, he left for Camp Stewart, where he was assigned to the Medical Supply department. Later he was transferred to the same department at Newport News. Following a short furlough last August he went to Camp Dix to be mustered out of the service. Army physicians there discovered slight lung trouble and ordered him to Otisville, N. Y., for treatment. A short time afterward he was sent to the United States General hospital No. 21, in Colorado. The deceased was a member of Trinity Lutheran church. He is survived by his father, two brothers, Benjamin and James Marietta, and two sisters, Belle and Elizabeth Marietta. Arrangements for the funeral will not be made until the arrival of the body here. In a letter to his father, written on January 15, Mr. Marietta made no mention of illness. He stated that he was enjoying excellent health and had gained almost 17 pounds. He also wrote that he was so well pleased with the treatment he was receiving at the hospital and the progress he was making with his studies of mechanical drawing that he would probably stay there as long as he could.

CARL J. MCCORMICK.
The funeral services for Carl J. McCormick will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of his father-in-law, Edward Dunlap at Liberty crossing, Vanderbilt and at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal church in Vanderbilt. Rev. Ralph Bell of Vanderburg, a former pastor of the church, and Rev. Dysart, the present pastor, will officiate. The interment will be made in the Dickerson Run Union cemetery.

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.
The freight on it has increased only 5½ cents.
Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wood to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5½ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Beef pays only two-thirds of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

Mass of Business Disposed of by Council at Monday's Session.

BIDS FOR FUNDS RECEIVED

Special to The Courier
SCOTSDALE Feb 4.—Much business was disposed of by council at a meeting Monday evening.

Bids for daily balances were received as follows: Broadway National bank 3 1/2 per cent; Scottdale Trust company, 3 1/2 per cent. They will be referred to the finance committee. The bids cover two years.

The street committee recommended that the salary of F. M. Newcomer be made $80 per month. The report was accepted. It recommended the purchase of a street broom filler at $76. This it is claimed will save enough money to pay for it in one year. The motion to purchase the filler was adopted.

A report was made that the thorough scales were inadequate to weigh big trucks and the danger of collapsing was discussed. The secretary and building committee were asked to adverse for bids. They recommended a fee of 1 cent for weighing. The rate is now 10 cents on every bag except hay which is 20 cents. This was referred to the ordinance committee.

The matter of street improvements was laid on the table until next meeting. The street committee recommended that action be taken against the Tri State Telephone company and the Postal Telegraph company to collect pole tax. The Tri State owes $600 and the Postal $1,600.

The need of new hose and chemical was made known to the members of council and the fire and water committee was asked to investigate and report at the next meeting. No new developments were reported in the water case.

The fire chief's report was read. It showed 16 alarms in 1919 with a property loss of $14,000. A new fire system was recommended and this was referred to the fire and water committee for further investigation.

The police committee recommended an increase in salary of $20 per month for the chief and police officers. This was granted. The salary of J. S. Kubas, janitor and weighmaster, was increased to $75.

Scottdale Baptist Program.
The Baptist church was greatly handicapped last Sunday. The boiler sprung a leak early Sunday morning and the fire had to be drawn. No heat could be made and no services for the day was the result. The trouble was not serious as first thought and was repaired early Monday morning. All the meetings of the week will be as arranged. A big day is promised for next Sunday. February 8. Rev. Wil-ham McNally of Scranton will preach morning after noon and evening. The afternoon service will be a men's rally. The various organized classes have accepted an invitation to be present. Bakell's orchestra will turn a special music and lead the men in the song service. The United Brethren male quartet will also sing. If you want to hear a man with a real meanness, a man with the punch he's got, McNally is the man to see. He's getting hit hard by the Scotch Irish preacher, February 8. All day at the same place. All are invited to attend.

"No Rheumatics" is a Mighty Poor Reason for Wearing a Wooden Leg

NO sting or hot burnin' is a mighty weak-kneed recommendation for tobacco. But when tobacco is mild and cool, and yet as full of "fun" as a barrel of monkeys—well, that's another story—that's Velvet.

And 'cause why?

'Cause Velvet is brought up—not jerked up by the hair. It's raised as carefully as a favorite child. It's cured in the big fresh air. And it mellows away for two years in wooden hogsheads 'til it's smooth and rich as cream. The wonder would be if Velvet wasn't a whacking good pipe smoke.

"Let Nature mellow yo' tobacco an' that tobacco will shore mellow yo' nature," says Velvet Joe. And he's pretty nearly right.

NATURE-AGEING in the wood does more to make tobacco friendly than any camouflage you can cover it with—and don't you forget it. See, taste, smell, feel the "real tobacco-ness" in Velvet. Why, you can almost hear it. Velvet's the tobacco you can judge with your eyes wide open and specs on.

There's a whole lot in Nature's way of making good tobacco better. And it's all in Velvet.

Here's to a full pipe and a friendly one.

Legitimately produced

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of "Tarzan of the Apes" "Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1919, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

Tarzan and Werper had been lying bound behind a small pile of knapsacks from the time that the company had halted; but with the preparation of the meal completed, their guard ordered them to rise and come forward to one of the fires where their hands would be unfettered that they might eat.

As the giant ape-man rose, a startled expression of recognition entered the eyes of the watcher in the jungle, and a low guttural broke from the savage lips. Instantly Tarzan was alert, but the answering growl died upon his lips, suppressed by the fear that it might arouse the suspicions of the soldiers.

Suddenly an inspiration came to him. He turned toward Werper. "I am going to speak to you in a loud voice and in a tongue which you do not understand. Appear to listen intently to what I say, and occasionally mumble something as though replying in the same language—our escape may hinge upon the success of your efforts."

Werper nodded in assent and understanding, and immediately there broke from the lips of his companion a strange jargon which might have been compared with equal propriety to the barking and growling of a dog and the chattering of monkeys.

The nearer soldiers looked in surprise at the ape-man. The officer approached the prisoners while Tarzan was still jabbering, and halted behind them, listening in perplexed interest. And deep in the gloomy jungle amidst the darkening shadows of the falling night a hairy, manlike creature swung swiftly southward upon some secret mission of his own.

To Jane Clayton, waiting in the tree where Werper had placed her, it seemed that the long night would never end, yet end it did at last, and within an hour of the coming of dawn her spirit leaped with renewed hope at sight of a solitary horseman approaching along the trail.

The dawning burrwood, with its loose hood hid both the face and the figure of the rider; but that it was M. Proculit the girl well knew, since he had been garbed as an Arab, and he alone might be expected to seek her hiding place.

She did not see the black face beneath the white hood, nor the file of even horsemen beyond the trail's bend riding slowly in the wake of their leader. These things she did not see at first, so she leaned downward toward the approaching rider, a cry of welcome in her throat. At the first word the man looked up, reining in in surprise, and as she saw the black face of Abdul Mourak, the Abyssinian, she shrank back in terror among the branches; but it was too late. The man had seen her, and now he called to her to descend. She realized that resistance was futile, and came slowly down to stand upon the ground before this new captor and plead her cause in the name of justice and humanity.

Angered by recent defeat, and by the loss of the gold, the jewels, and his prisoners, Abdul Mourak was in no mood to be influenced by any appeal to those softer sentiments, to which, as a matter of fact, he was almost a stranger even under the most favorable conditions.

He looked for degradation and possible death in punishment for his failures and his misfortunes when he should have returned to his native land and made his report to Menelek; but an acceptable gift might temper the wrath of the emperor, and surely this fair flower of another race should be gratefully received by the black ruler!

Many hours later, and as yet Jane Clayton, notwithstanding that she had passed a sleepless night, the night before, had scarcely more than dozed. A sense of impending danger seemed to hang like a black pall over the camp. The veteran troopers of the black emperor were nervous and ill at ease. Abdul Mourak left his blankets a dozen times to pace restlessly back and forth between the tethered horses and the crackling fire. The roaring of lions rose in sudden fury until the earth trembled to the hideous chorus. The horses shivered their heads in terror as they lay back upon their halter ropes in their mad endeavors to break loose. A lion, large and fierce, and courageous, leaped almost to the bonfire, full in the bright light from the fire. A sentry raised his piece and fired, and the little leader, polio, unscathed, the vials of hell upon the terror-stricken camp.

CARBON MAKES MOTOR KNOCK

Waste-Clogged Liver and Bowels Cause Thumping Head and Other Misery. Take "Cascarets"

Like carbon clogs and chokes a motor, so the excess bile in liver, and the constipated waste in the bowels, produce foggy brains, headache, sour, acid stomach, indigestion, sallow skin, sleepless nights and bad colds. Let gentle, harmless "Cascarets" rid the system of the toxins, acids, gases and poisons which are keeping you up.

Take Cascarets and enjoy the pleasant laxative-cathartic you ever experienced. Cascarets never gripe, sicken, or cause inconvenience. They work while you sleep. They cost so little, too.—Adv.

FINE FOR RHEUMATISM

Musterole Loosens Up Those Stiff Joints—Drives Out Pain

You'll know why thousands use Musterole once you experience the relief it gives. Get a jar at once from the nearest drug store. It is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Brings ease and comfort while it is being rubbed on! Musterole is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Millions of jars are used annually for bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.
